

Diamond Painting

Diamond Painting is a hobby that's a mix between paint by numbers and cross stitch. With Diamond Painting, you apply thousands of tiny resin "diamonds" to a coded adhesive canvas or project to create a shimmering diamond creation.

- You will notice that printed directly on the canvas is a chart with your diamonds that are labeled with a number that corresponds to a symbol. You will need to match the corresponding color of diamonds to the symbols and place them on the canvas accordingly.
- Choose a single-color diamond to get started with. Pour a small amount of diamonds in the tray. If you hold it at a slight angle and gently shake it back and forth the diamonds will settle right side up so they are facing the correct way to pick them up with the applicator.
- Peel back a small section of the plastic film to work on at one time. It's best and easiest to work on a small section at a time. It is important to keep the canvas covered when you aren't working on it.
- A pink square that comes with the kit is the wax. Peel back the clear plastic on the wax, and dip the tip of the applicator to fill it with wax.
- You can then pick up the diamonds as they will easily stick to the tip of the applicator. Once picked up, carefully press the diamond onto its corresponding symbol on the canvas.
- Always remember to add a little bit more wax if the pen seems like it doesn't pick up the diamonds anymore.
- Repeat the process until you are done!
- If you wish to seal your project Mod Podge or Miniwax Polyacrylic clear gloss will do the trick.

Have fun!

How to Do Diamond Painting Video:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=CjXOwHBIIMQ>